The Chamber of Commerce is calling upon business men and merchants to decorate their places of business in honor of the Odd Fellows' Grand Lodge in Richmond next week. ## BINGHAM TAKES $600,000 IN STOCK

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 6—For the second time evidencing absolute confidence in the success of the co-operative plan for marketing burley tobacco, Judge Robert W. Bingham, of Louisville, who led personally and with his newspapers the campaign for the organization of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, late Wednesday subscribed for $600,000 of the funds necessary for the financing of the warehouse end of the business until next year.

Judge Bingham, at the meeting of bankers at Lexington at which the first advances on the tobacco delivered last fall were raised, made a loan of a million dollars to the Association, out of a total of $5,500,000 which was advanced by the banks of the district and by individuals for ninety days but which was repaid in forty days.

The chief business of the meeting Wednesday, which was the first meeting of the new board, was the provision for warehouse matters, the re-election of officers, which was done unanimously and hearing reports from the directors as to the feeling in their respective districts. The latter showed that the growers stand solidly behind the officials in their handling of the affairs of the association and that they approve the policy of President James C. Stone in the orderly merchandising of the crop. Applause greeted the statement by Judge Bingham that he would take $600,000 of the issue of warehouse stock and President Stones said it would be easy to place the remaining $120,000 of the issue.

Graders for the association, President Stone announced, will aid the growers in preparing the crops for marketing, teaching those who desire aid how to strip and grade their tobacco properly before bringing it to market.

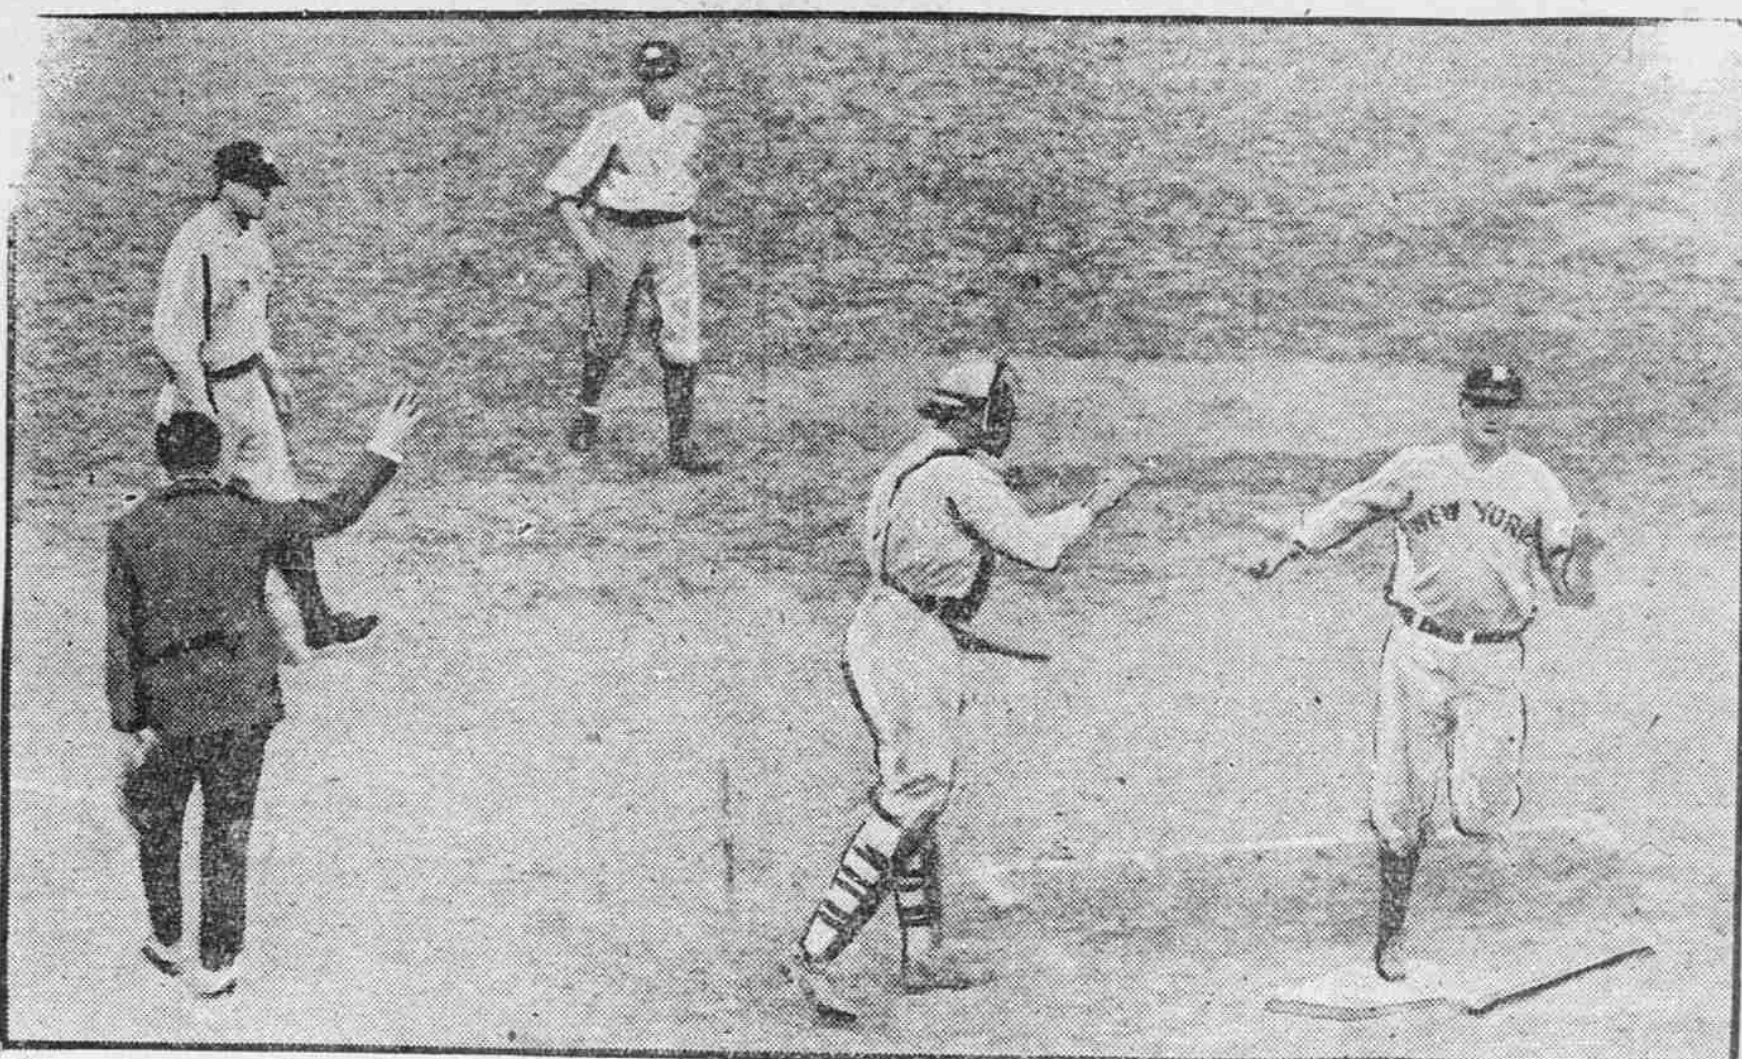

Another committee of Tennessee growers from the dark district is in Lexington looking over this system of the Burley Association with a view to learning how it is regarded by bankers, business men and growers.

The signing of 256 contracts in Adair, Green and Taylor counties was reported by E. M. Mansfield, who said that Chairman G. P. Reed, Woodson Lewis and Sam Bottom were doing remarkably successful work for the association in those counties. Reports from the work of the field service show a total of more than 70,000 members in the burley association and a goal of 5,000 between now and Nov. 6 when the books of the association close for the year.

COLLINS LONG TRIAL IS HARD FOUGHT

Two cases of unusual interest have been occupying circuit court during Thursday and Friday. On Thursday the jury tried the case of Terry Moses Perkins, indicted on a charge of attempting to detain a woman, reported to court that it was unable to agree on a verdict. The court then finally discharged the jury and this case will be tried again later.

Court then began consideration of the case against Collins Long, charged with having a moonshine still on his farm near White's Station. This case was hard fought all day Friday.

The principal witness against Long is Will White, who was convicted at February term of court of operating the still that was captured by officers. White insisted in his testimony, that he operated the still on Long's farm under an arrangement with him. The Long defense was that he knew nothing of White having the still there and that White was attempting to "frame" him because he would not give him some money.

The grand jury has brought in 12 indictments so far. One only is for murder. It is against Oscar Rucker near Bobtown, who is accused of shooting Oliver Vansant to death.

Ed French, Gib Casteel and a man named Farmer were fined $100 and costs each and given 30 days in jail on a charge of having liquor in their possession.

WACO FARMER TAKES OWN LIFE

Friends were greatly shocked, early Friday morning, when news came from Waco, that John Thomas, a splendid citizen of that section, has taken his life, and his body was found hanging in his barn about 7 o'clock. Just a few minutes before, he came in the kitchen, and asked his wife, if breakfast was ready, and when she replied, it would be in a very short time, he said he would walk over to the barn, and do his feeding, and would return, in a few minutes. After Mrs. Thomas got the morning meal on the table and he did not come back, she walked out to the barn and found him dead.

Mr. Thomas had not been in the best of health for the past few weeks and had seemed a little despondent but the family knew no reason for his rash act. He is survived by his wife and one daughter Mrs. Carrie Moore to whom the deepest and tenderest sympathy of community is extended in their hour of deep sorrow. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.
